DOCUMENT SUMMARY

This document has three parts. Part I consists of performance information for the Plan(s), investment options available, and information regarding how well the investments have performed in the past. Part II provides the fees and expenses you will pay if you invest in an option. Part III provides Plan related information applicable to each of the Plans.

PART I – PERFORMANCE INFORMATION

The information in this table focuses on the performance of investment options that do not have a fixed or stated rate of return. It shows how these investments have performed over time and allows you to compare them with appropriate benchmarks for the same time periods. Information about an option's principal risks is available through the following website, mylife.newyorklife.com/investment_info. To view the investment option details for your Plan(s), please enter the following code:

Code "L01505" for the Annuity Plan

Code "L01502" for the 401(k) Plan

Total returns include changes in share price and reinvestment of all dividends and capital gains, if any, but not the effect of any sales charges, which are waived for qualified retirement plans. If sales charges were included, total returns would be lower.

For funds with redemption fees, performance shown does not reflect the deduction of this fee which would reduce performance. Investment options are grouped according to investment objective. Within each investment objective grouping, funds are listed in alphabetical order. For more specific information, please refer to the investments' specific disclosure information.

Performance data quoted represents past performance. Past performance does not guarantee how the investment option will perform in the future; and due to market volatility, current performance may be less or higher than the figures shown. For the most recent month-end performance information, please log onto mylife.newyorklife.com or call a New York Life representative at 1(800)294-3575.

The "target date" in a target date fund is the approximate date an investor plans to start withdrawing money. The funds generally shift to a more conservative investment mix over time. Earnings and principal value are not guaranteed at any time including the target date. Small and mid-cap stocks are often more volatile than large-cap stocks. Growth stocks may be more volatile than other stocks because they are generally more sensitive to investor perceptions and market moves. The principal risk of investing in value funds is that the price of the security may not approach its anticipated value. Foreign securities can be subject to greater risks than U.S. investments, including currency fluctuations, less liquid trading markets, greater price volatility, political and economic instability, less publicly available information, and changes in tax or currency laws or monetary policy. These risks are likely to be greater for emerging markets than in developed markets. Funds that invest in bonds are subject to interest rate risk and can lose principal value when interest rates rise.

Total returns are historical and include changes in share price and reinvestment of all dividends and capital gains, if any, but not the effect of any sales charges, which are waived for qualified retirement plans. If sales charges were included, total returns would be lower. Note - This Investment Return report is designed to provide investors with an illustration of the performance of only those funds and/or investments in the Plan's lineup as of the report date provided at the top of the first page. This report does not report performance figures for those funds and/or investments that were once in the Plan's lineup, and have since been removed from the lineup prior to the report date at the top of the first page. Further, the performance returns reported on this document represents performance for each respective fund; however, this does not represent the actual performance experience of individual participants within the Plan, due to participant's variability in cash flows, timing of cash flows, etc. For actual performance experience, participants should refer to the Personal rate of Return function online at mylife.newyorklife.com, our Voice Response System (VRS), New York Life participant service center, or periodic participant statements.

²The issuer of a debt security may not make timely interest payments or may fail to pay the principal upon maturity.

³Equity funds are subject generally to market, market sector, market liquidity, issuer, and investment style risks, among other factors, to varying degrees.

⁴Companies that normally pay dividends may not do so if their profits or cash flows are inadequate.

⁵Small and mid-cap stocks are often more volatile than large-cap stocks. Smaller companies generally face higher risks due to their limited product lines, markets and financial markets.

⁶The fund includes investments in the technology sector, which has been highly volatile and involves special risks.

⁷Leverage can magnify the impact of adverse issuer, political, regulatory, market, or economic developments on a company.

⁸The fund's long/short investment techniques, along with other alternative investment strategies (e.g., options), present higher risks. The fund may not be appropriate for all investors. Because the fund uses short sales and leveraging, expenses are expected to be higher than for traditional mutual funds. Short sales involve the possibility of unlimited loss.

⁹The Fund is a "fund of funds" that invests in shares of other mutual funds (the underlying funds), which can include U.S. and foreign equity and fixed income securities. The fund may also allocate its investments in growth and value stocks, real estate investment trusts, and corporate and U.S. government bonds. Foreign investing involves risks not associated with U.S. investments, including currency fluctuations and political and economic changes. While diversification helps to manage risk, it does not guarantee earnings growth. Funds that invest in bonds are subject to interest-rate risk and can lose principal value when interest rates rise. The risks associated with an investment in the fund are more fully described in the fund's prospectus.

¹⁰The principal on mortgage- or asset-backed securities may normally be prepaid at any time, which will reduce the yield and market value of these securities.

²The investor should note that funds that invest in companies with market capitalizations below $10 billion, or mid cap funds, involve additional risks. The securities of those companies may be more volatile and less liquid than the securities of larger companies.

The cumulative effect of fees and expenses can substantially reduce the growth of your retirement savings. Visit the Department of Labor's Web site for an example showing the long-term effect of fees and expenses at http://www.dol.gov/ebsa/publications/401_employee.html. Fees and expenses are only one of many factors to consider when you decide to invest in an option. You may also want to think about whether an investment in a particular option, along with your other investments, will help you achieve your financial goals.
